

Raphael 14067

Raphael is a warmhearted, motivated, and easy-going guy. He is quite charming with tan skin, kind eyes, and dimples on both cheeks that are very complimenting. We always enjoy his relaxed and easy-going personality; he is very social and a true conversationalist. Raphael is currently studying structural engineering, and one day hopes to pursue a career in this field, while also having a family of his own.

In his free time, he enjoys staying active by playing soccer, volleyball, basketball, and even badminton! Overall, Raphael values the importance by family planning and joined our program to be able to help other families create their own.
