David 10789 Staff Impression

Standing at 6 feet tall with a medium build, David is classically handsome with striking features such as captivating blue-green eyes, a dimpled smile, high cheekbones, and a well-defined jawline. He is lean and muscular with an athletic build.

A dedicated student pursuing a major in elementary education, David is on the brink of graduation and envisions a future in teaching, possibly aspiring to become a school principal in the next 5 to 10 years. Outside the realms of academia, David is a sports enthusiast, ardently supporting the Baltimore Ravens in football and the Nuggets in basketball. In his leisure time, he indulges in video games, finding a balance between the demands of school and personal interests. Having served in the army and lived in Germany for three years, David considers this experience not just a tour but a significant life journey. His leadership skills, hardworking nature, and ability to form lasting connections make him a valuable member of our community. David's personality is a blend of introversion and sociability, ensuring a dynamic presence in various social settings. David is a multifaceted individual with a heart eager to contribute to the well-being of others, both in the educational realm and the realm of parenthood.