Despite his imposing physical stature, Rider is a gentle giant at heart. He has a creative side and loves to spend his free time painting landscapes, drawing, and working on home renovation projects. Rider is a true animal lover and has a big heart when it comes to rescuing and fostering animals. He has two rescue dogs and a cat that he dotes on and loves like family. He is also an avid gearhead and enjoys building and tinkering with motorcycles and cars.

Rider has a competitive streak and enjoys a wide range of sports, including football, baseball, basketball, soccer, softball, volleyball, water skiing, jet ski racing, wakeboarding, tubing, and boxing. He approaches these activities with the same fierce loyalty, honesty, and empathy that he brings to all aspects of his life. With a master's degree in teaching and a bachelor's in history with minors in sociology and theology, Rider is well-educated and knowledgeable. He hopes to soon be working as a full-time junior high and high school teacher and baseball coach, sharing his passion for education and sports with young minds.
