Levant stands 5'11" with an athletic build. He has a warm, approachable face with a genuine, friendly smile. He has dark brown hair that's slightly wavy and tousled, giving him a relaxed, natural look. His facial hair consists of a well-groomed beard and mustache that frames his face nicely. He has kind, dark brown eyes with a gentle, welcoming expression. His face features defined cheekbones and a strong jawline, with olive-toned skin that suggests his multicultural heritage, stemming from his mother's Venezuelan ancestry and his father's French heritage. He's fluent in both English and Spanish and maintains strong family connections, particularly with his grandparents, who are still thriving at ages 97 and 94. A college graduate with a Bachelor's degree in Hospitality, he describes himself as outgoing and friendly while maintaining strong values of discipline and integrity. His favorite quote captures his character well: "It's nice to be important, but it's more important to be nice."

Levant is passionate about martial arts and has trained extensively as an amateur boxer, kickboxer, and mixed martial artist, which has taught him discipline, respect, and patience. Basketball is his favorite sport, though he actively participates in soccer, football, volleyball, and tennis. Beyond athletics, he enjoys traveling and has visited many countries, including Thailand, Venezuela, Mexico, France, and several Caribbean islands, with Thailand being particularly memorable for the cultural experience. He also works as a DJ, enjoys chess, hiking, snowboarding, and has a love for dogs.

Levant's motivation for becoming a donor stems from a genuine desire to help people experiencing fertility challenges. As a single man who isn't certain about having his own children, he feels his healthy genetics shouldn't go to waste when they could help create families for others. He takes pride in his family's longevity and overall good health, believing his positive outlook, athletic abilities, and strong moral foundation would be valuable traits to pass on to help others achieve their dreams of parenthood.
